

Prepare now for your visit on April 7

When your group arrives to campus, check in with us first in the courtyard just south of Ronald Tutor Hall (RTH), where you will see the banners and Check-In Desk (marked below). At the Check-In Desk, we have maps for you and a specific lab location for starting your tour. Please do not go directly into labs without checking in at the RTH courtyard.

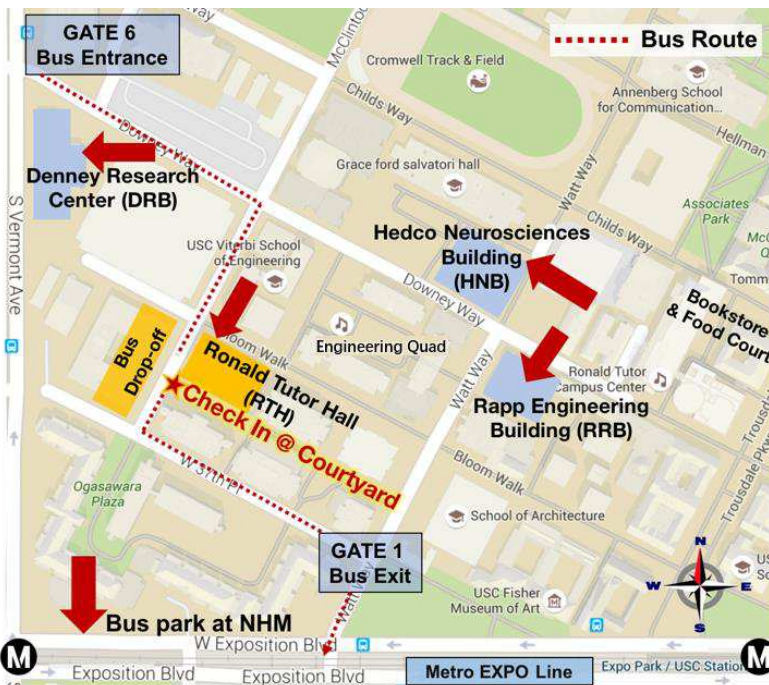

We ask for you to provide one adult for every 15 students. Please come with the groups of 15 already identified and assigned to a specific adult. We will start groups in different places, so be prepared to split up. Since the tours are self-paced (lab demos begin every half hour, expect to spend 20 minutes in each lab), decide in advance to rendezvous with other groups from your school in a specific location at a specific time. You are welcome to stay for as short or as long as you want. Two hours is a good amount of time to plan for, but if you want to see every single lab, it could take more than three hours.

You are welcome to bring lunches and water for your students to leave at the check-in desk. This is likely to be a warm day, so hats and sunscreen are a good idea. Try to avoid bringing large backpacks. You can eat bag lunches anywhere on campus and explore the campus as you wish. There are many places to buy food or beverages on or off campus, see hospitality.usc.edu/quick-service-restaurants-upc/ Interactive USC map: <http://web-app.usc.edu/maps/>
